

About Bernedoodles...

Traits:

The Bernedoodle is a popular designer breed that inherits its traits from its parents; the Bernese Mountain dog and the Poodle.

- The Bernese Mountain dog is known for being hardworking, loving, calm and fond of children.
- The Poodle is renowned for being highly intelligent, playful and fun.

As well as having inherited characteristics from its parents every puppy will have its own character, just like people do.

Very affectionate and loyal, a great dog to have around children.

The Bernedoodle will give you everything you are looking for in a dog, and yes, they are hypoallergenic.

With a moderate energy level, Bernedoodles are relaxed and accompany you grace whether your sitting down relaxing, playing an outdoor sport, or doing any other daily routine work.

Social:

They are attention grabbers and quickly make new friends. They feel comfortable with all types of pets and other dogs.

They are hard-working, docile, and love to be near their families. As a result, they may experience separation anxiety if left alone for too long.

Coats and Care:

Like most Doodle dog breeds, Bernedoodles will inherit traits from both parents and can inherit the coat type of the Poodle, the Bernese Mountain Dog, or a combination of the two.

For example, the Bernedoodle may come in the Bernese Mountain Dogs' tri-color of black, white and brown coat, however it is also possible for a Bernedoodle puppy to inherit coloring from the Poodle and can be black and white, black and brown, even spotted.

When it comes to coat texture, Bernedoodles range from straight hair, wavy, curly or a mix.

Training:

Bernedoodles tend to be among the easier dog breeds when it comes to training as they inherit trainability from both parents, especially the Poodle...

Exercise:

Bernedoodles have a moderate energy level and need exercise, they love to run and play and learn! They are great companions for active families.

Health and Life Expectancy:

You can avoid many health issues by taking your dog to the vet regularly, making sure they get lots of exercise, and feeding them a high-quality diet.

Bernedoodles tend to be lively and strong due to mixing of two breeds the chance of the puppies being prone to certain breed related diseases and health issues is greatly reduced, and Bernedoodles can be expected to live up to 12 -14 years old (and beyond)

Text or call us at 413-310-6722 for info
on the puppies that we have available or coming

